INTRODUCTION

The fauna of Staphylinidae Latreille, 1802 of Latvia has been studied quite well and currently contains more than 800 registered species (Cibuļskis 2010; Schülke & Smetana 2015; etc.).

The aim of the present study was to provide an additional faunistic data on Staphylinidae, based on material collected in western and eastern regions of Latvia. As a result, new faunistic records of 38 species in four subfamilies has been provided, including three species of Gyrophaena (Aleocharinae) and Stenichnus (Scydmaeninae), which are reported from the country for the first time.

MATERIAL AND METHODS

This paper is based on specimens collected by the first and second authors, K. Aksjuta, A.

Anichtchenko, K. Barševska, A. Barševskis, A. Bukejs, R. Cibuļskis, J. Donis, K. Gulbis, J. Ivanova, M. Kalniņš, A. Laizāns, M. Nitcis, A. Pankjāns, D. Pilāte, J. Prokopčika, E. Rudāns, A. Soldāns, J. Staskeviča, A. Titovs, K. Valaine, U. Valainis (all from Latvia) and V. Alekseev, A. Pavlova (Kaliningrad, Russia) during 1991-2014 in Latvia. The material examined is deposited in DUBC (Daugavpils University Beetles Collection, Study and Research center “Ilgas”, Latvia); some specimens of Gyrophaena are deposited in cIE (collection of I.V. Enushchenko, Irkutsk, Russia) and ZMM (Zoological Museum of Moscow University, Russia). Specimens of Aleocharinae were identified by the third author, Omaliinae – by the second author, Pselaphinae – by R. Bekchiev (Sofia, Bulgaria), and Scydmaeninae by P. Jałoszyński (Wrocław, Poland). The following abbreviations were used in the text: Distr.–district, NPT–Nature protected Territory, spec.–specimen(-s). Subfamilies, genera and species are listed in alphabetic order.

In the annotated list below we have not provided synonyms and distribution since these data can be found in Schülke & Smetana (2015).
